

CONTENTS

THE SPECIFICITY OF HISTORICAL DEVELOPMENT: EAST CENTRAL EUROPE IN THE NINETEENTH AND TWENTIETH CENTURY

- Maciej Janowski, 'Multiple Sonderwegs'. The Specificity of Historical Development of East Central Europe in the Nineteenth and Twentieth Century (Introductory Remarks) 5
- Maciej Górny, Bitterly Triumphant: The Biologisation of National Character in the Twentieth-Century East Central Europe 29
- Oskar Mulej, National Liberals and Their Progeny. Approaching the Peculiar Developments in Central European Liberal Party Traditions, 1867–1918 57
- Marcin Jarząbek, The Victors of a War that Was Not Theirs: First-World-War-Veterans in the Second Republic of Poland and Their European Peers. 83
- Błażej Brzostek, Romania's Peculiar Way in the Landscapes of Bucharest, 1806–1906 107
- Maciej Janowski, A Capital in the Periphery. The Developmental Specificity of Budapest (as a Big East Central European City) 141

ARCHIVE

- Viacheslav Lypyns'kyi, The Tragedy of the Ukrainian Sancho Panza (From an Émigré's Notebook) 167

REVIEWS

Słownik wsi śląskich w średniowieczu [The Dictionary of the Medieval Silesian Rural Settlements], ed. Dominik Nowakowski, vol. 1: Powiat lubiński [Lubiń district], ed. Dagmara Adamska,

Agnieszka Latocha, Dominik Nowakowski, Aleksander Paroń, Marcin Siehankiewicz, Robert Sikorski – Tomasz Związek; Christoph Schmidt, Pilger, Popen und Propheten. Eine Religionsgeschichte Osteuropas – Margarita Korzo; Processes of Cultural Exchange in Central Europe, 1200–1800, ed. Veronika Čapská, with Robert Antonín, Martin Čapský – Olga Miriam Przybyłowicz; Peter Oliver Loew, Wir Unsichtbaren. Geschichte der Polen in Deutschland – Maciej Górny; Tomasz Kizwalter, W stronę równości [Towards Equality] – Adam Kozuchowski; Philipp Ther, Die neue Ordnung auf dem alten Kontinent. Eine Geschichte des neoliberalen Europa – Maciej Górny. 179

SHORT NOTES 211